Portland, Ore., Aug. 30, 2010 – The Oregon Clinic's Neurology Clinic West division welcomes Juliana Lockman, MD. Her special interests lie in Epilepsy, Clinical Neurology, Electroencephalogram (EEG) and Video EEG Monitoring, and Epilepsy Surgery Evaluation.

Dr. Lockman received her medical degree at the University of Texas Medical School at San Antonio in 2004 with honors. She completed an internship in internal medicine and a residency in neurology at the University of Virginia Health System in Charlottesville, Va., where she became Chief Resident. Dr. Lockman later completed a fellowship in epilepsy at Stanford Medical Center in Stanford, Calif.

Originally from Austin, TX, Dr. Lockman graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in 1998 where she majored in psychology. She is the author of numerous research articles and frequently presents research findings at medical conferences and assemblies. Dr. Lockman is also the recipient of many honors and awards including the National EpiFellows Foundation Scholarship winner and the Top Scholar Epilepsy Fellow Award winner.

Dr. Lockman now lives in Portland and enjoys gardening, cooking, drawing/painting, photography, traveling and spending time with friends, family and her two dogs.

"I have found that delivering thorough and compassionate care begins with listening to the patient. Hearing the patient's story is essential to attaining an accurate diagnosis, while also providing insight into the profound effects of a disease on social functioning, independence, and psychological well-being. Understanding the personal impact of a disease allows me to customize therapy and give patients the knowledge they need to become a valued partner in decision-making,” said Dr. Lockman.
